Invest in the future of Financial Wellness

A high-growth opportunity to transform millions of lives

Not another PFM! Not e-learning!

The core problem

We're not equipped for today's financial decisions

Stress and poorly informed choices affect both individuals AND businesses

Individuals

Need to solve financial problems

Employers

Need return on their people investment

Financial Businesses

Need to improve customer life value

Problem

Level of knowledge needed for confident decisions is unattainable to most, including certain underserved communities

No easy effective support tool - bad UX!

- Non-impactful PFM apps, read-only, unsharable
- Siloed financial products for individual tasks
- Excel is unguided, outdated and disconnected

No effective tool to support employees

- No holistic financial wellness employee benefits - only employer savings, one off workshops, shop discounts...

Poorly communicated value proposition

- Clients don't understand what companies sell; inaccessible & opaque jargon, unclear benefits
- No general view of clients' financial life & goals

Siloed solutions focused on unique use cases

Consequence

Stress and money losses!

85%
Brits concerned about the cost of living

40%
UK workers have sleepless nights due to financial stress

68%
UK Gen Z stressed over finances in the last 12 months

£2500/y
overpaid by household on their bills

Cost of financial stress to UK companies due to absenteeism = £15.2b/y

Low product uptake
Low customer engagement

The tech gap

LLMs or e-learning alone can’t solve financial stress

In isolation, AI , LLM or e-learning without thoughtful user-centric design only add to the confusion

Data & connectivity

- Limited personal context, “blanket” statements & learnings
- Risk of outdated or incorrect information
- No access to live market data
- Disconnected from financial services infrastructure

User Experience

- Lack of permanence - temporary conversations amongst a flood of other queries or linear content
- Text only interface making difficult concepts hard to interact with and apply in real world
- Relies on inputting the learnings elsewhere, for example in a spreadsheet

Industry issues

- Concerns about data privacy & security
- Answers limited by the skill of the questioner
- How to manage the variations between LLMs and models within LLMs

The market opportunity

People ask for help. Industries are ready for disruption

Demand is surging, but personal finance tools are stuck in the past

72% of EU employers and 62% of banks have now recognised an urgent need for action and committed to improving financial wellness

Tools like Canva and Miro, now leveraging AI alongside productivity features, demonstrate the power of user-first design in the multi-billion dollar productivity market.

Meanwhile, personal finance is still waiting for its breakthrough. A disruptive, accessible, and user-centred solution is urgently required to solve an unmet consumer, employer and business need

We must now reimagine how we approach personal finance beyond transactional apps and simple AI-chats.

Financial wellness is now a strategic must for companies

80%
want a financial wellbeing benefit from employers

72%
EU employers plan to enhance financial wellness support

62%
of EU banks planning user financial wellness platforms to go beyond traditional banking relationship

A huge market with no solution until now

Our breakthrough approach

Impart is the tool companies are missing

- Visual, interactive, and integrated with finance
- Permanent repository for all your financial matters
- Trust & data permissions central to the experience
- Linked to live data
- Unique collaborative productivity UX
- Pre-built templates, and AI-driven insights accessible to all
- Covers ALL personal finance topics
- Holistic user financial profile
- Easier than spreadsheets!

Leverages pressing industry shifts: UK Data Bill & Open Finance, Open Banking, PSD3, and digital engagement demand

Impart: built for real life, not just queries

A user-first, AI-powered transparent tool that builds confidence, reduces stress and increases revenue

Why Impart wins

Smarter than a single LLM or e-learning

Built-in expertise, auditability, and superior guidance from day one

LLMs (e.g. ChatGPT) & e-learning

- Conversational answers on general topics
- Limited personal context
- Risk of incorrect financial guidance
- No regulatory framework
- Risk of outdated financial guidance
- No conversation with e-learning, one-off ones with LLM
- No dedicated financial tools in LLM, generic content in e-learning
- Dependant on users skills at using AI or understanding e-learning concepts

Impart

Mortgage Options

Dedicated tool specifically for all personal finance topics

Permanent repository of all your financial matters, providing lasting value on your financial situation and history

Pre-built high performing queries and templates for all

They need a tool like Impart

"With my partner we go to ChatGPT to help understand scenarios, but then I have to put it all in Excel to really make something out of it, and then we have to go find the right products to act on it. It's all over the place."

"There's never one platform where you can do everything: there's one app where you see savings, then another for shares, then another for spendings with friends on holiday etc.[...]to have this overview of everything in one place would be easier."

"It's an nightmare to manage finances, nothing is connected to each other"
